

2010

The Washington Park renovation transformed a critically-positioned civic space from a crime-infused no-man's land filled with drug abusers and prostitutes into a vibrant and inclusive gathering space for residents and visitors alike.

Today, the park features an interactive water park, a playground, a deck/concessions area, a dog park and much more. Programmed year-round, it is not only a neighborhood anchor but also a destination for concerts, festivals and community events.
